

MARSHALL WOULD LET CONSCIENCE GOVERN POLITICS

Former Vice-President in Speech to Bankers Asks "Golden Rule" Exist.

TALKS ABOUT LABOR

Declares Labor Has Right to Organize But Not Overpower Public.

(By the Associated Press)

DETROIT, Nov. 15.—Thomas R. Marshall, former vice-president would repeal all laws and enact in their place the Ten Commandments and the golden rule and place their enforcement upon the conscience of the American people, he told the Bankers Club of Detroit in an address here last night.

Mr. Marshall discussed at length the aims of the federal fact-finding commission recently organized for an investigation of the coal industry, declaring the essentials of permanent peace are based on justice, which are being sought by the commission.

Every business question has its public side and Americans can be relied upon he said to adjust their business grievances on the principles of "organized control" and in a manner that government interference will be unnecessary.

Labor he said, should have the right to organize but no group should be permitted to organize to such an extent that it becomes more powerful than the public.

Introduced as former vice-president, Mr. Marshall reminded the bankers that he once was governor of Indiana, which was a "real office," he said, besides the vice-presidency.

He came into the latter office he said, "as a result of the progressiveness using the 'stand pat' for divorce on the grounds of non-support."

In serious discussion of politics Mr. Marshall said he believed the people at present were dissatisfied with the leadership of both major parties.

Discusses Organized Labor.

One of the investigation, Mr. Marshall said, there might well come a realization that every business has a patriotic side and that no laborer can regard his business as exclusively private. He suggested that "organized self-control," rather than government procedure was the objective to be sought in a democracy's relations with its people.

"The experiences of recent years have been sufficient in number," said the former vice-president, who spoke before the Detroit Bankers' Association, "to justify the statement that this democracy of ours only can be called ideal if it is maintained by the organized self-control of the people. It is hardly a democracy if large bodies of its people are compelled to do what its government demands at the point of force. Organized self-control does not mean that if people do not voluntarily govern themselves, government will cease. Government of some kind will never cease to be among this people, and the existing government, if needful, will justify itself by force of arms."

"I assume that, in view of the relations I have to the coal fact-finding commission, you have more than an idle curiosity to know the attitude of the commission."

"It has neither thoughts nor purpose of being awed by influence or bought by gain. Its members have no political fortunes to serve, and their private welfare can be effected but slightly by whatever may happen. It entertains no malice, envy, or ill-will against a soul on earth. It purposes in the finding of facts, to begin the investigation under the belief that all the contending forces have a sincere desire to assist in ascertaining the truth about every element entering into and every condition surrounding the business. It does not purpose to be suspicious nor censorious but it does intend to see that it shall not be treated as though it were a court of law before which parties litigant are appearing, each striving to conceal some fact of advantage to the other side and each seeking to cast discredit upon the other. It has been promised, and so far believes, that it will receive the honest assistance of both operator and miner in the effort to ascertain the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, hewing to the line, let the chips fall where they may."

"Out of assistance of this kind, if it shall be given, as the weeks go by and the facts develop, it hopes to promote a friendlier feeling."

Mexicans Ask Fairness

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The Mexican embassy has made representations to the state department against the alleged lynching of a Mexican, Elias Villareal Aarato, at Weslaco, Tex., last Saturday, and asking guarantee for safety of the Mexican consul at Hidalgo county, Tex., whose life is said to have been threatened. According to the embassy, Villareal Zarate was put in jail after a fight with an American and then was taken out and lynched. The authorities afterwards refused the request of the Mexican consul that an investigation be made.

CHURCH WORKER TO SPEAK HERE

Franklin Clark Slated for Lecture Here in Interest of the Church.

A speaker of national prominence in church work will lecture at the Episcopal church tonight at 7:30. The Rev. Franklin J. Clark, secretary of the National council of the Protestant Episcopal church, arrived in Ada today. He made an address this afternoon and will be the honor guest at a men's dinner at the Harris hotel tonight. Tomorrow morning he will speak to the students of the East Central State Teachers college, through the courtesy of President Linzher.

The Episcopal church throughout the country is making an educational drive this month. Church work is being fully described and programs for the next three years explained. Churches generally are finding out that the people must be informed before they can give intelligently to church enterprises. Much of what Mr. Clark will say will be of general interest, especially in what pertains to the mission field. Work of all denominations in such fields as China, Japan, South America, Africa and India, is founded on a common basis. All must consider the historic background and the temperment of the natives.

Mr. Clark's visit is an honor to Ada as well as to the Episcopal church. His reputation as a preacher and public speaker means that the College students have a treat in store for them.

Plight of Refugees in Thrace Horrible, Reports Ascertain

(By the Associated Press)

ATHENS, Nov. 15.—Plight of refugees in eastern Thrace is growing worse, according to reports from Near East Relief workers in the vicinity.

Attacks have been made on their convoys by bands of Turkish irregulars and the morale of the refugees has been reduced to a negligible state. Long lines of wagons, which the refugees formed for mutual protection are being broken and the wagons robbed by the Turks. Women and young girls are being carried off by hundreds to supplement the harems of the Turks, according to the reports.

Dispute of Miners to be Heard Before Special Commission

(By the Associated Press)

CHICAGO, Nov. 15.—A controversy between a thousand miners employed near Henryetta, Okla., and the Crowe Coal company resulting in a suspension of work for a month, was to be heard here late today by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and Harry N. Taylor, president of the southern Coal Operators' association, acting as an arbitral committee. The dispute grew out of overtime pay for miners, who say it involves their whole wage structure. A committee of miners and a similar group representing the mining company will testify.

LEWIS WILL NOT STAY SENTENCE OF ELIAS RIDGE

Boy Murderer Must Die for Crime Friday Morning at McAlester.

INSANE TEST FAILS

Says Boy's Age Has Been Misrepresented in a Recent Trial.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 15.—Dr. A. L. Lewis, state health commissioner, member of the commission of three which examined Elias Ridge, negro boy murderer condemned to die Friday at the state prison, at McAlester yesterday, will recommend to the governor today that the sentence be carried out, he indicated this morning.

"If the boy is big enough and strong enough to have killed an able bodied woman in a free for all fight as they say he did, he is old enough to die. I am confident Ridge is more than 14 years old and is sane. That will be my report," Dr. Lewis said this morning.

Ridge was convicted for the murder of Mrs. George Adair, wife of a white farmer near Muskogee, on August 16.

It was said to be one of the most brutal murders in that part of the state. He mutilated the woman with an ax and then beat her over the head with a bar of wood, when she acceded to his request that he be allowed to take a drink of water from the well.

The boy claimed at the trial that a relative of his, a much older negro, had hired him to do the killing in order to take Mrs. Adair's jewelry. He said he had been promised a pig, $10 and a diamond.

SLOW PROGRESS IN WALTER DODD CASE

(By the Associated Press)

EUFULA, Okla., Nov. 15.—Slow progress in obtaining a jury marked the opening today of the trial of Walter Dodd, a young traveling salesman of Ada, charged with the killing of John Sellers, son of Alex Sellers, well known Eufaula man. With six jurors tentatively selected at noon neither the state nor the defense had exercised any of their challenges. Hope was expressed that the panel would be completed by the time court adjourns tonight.

Walter Dodd is well known in Ada having lived here for several years. On his return to Ada from Eufaula, following his release on bond, he told friends that he shot Sellers in self defense. He said that together with a brother, he was leaving the hotel where Sellers worked when a quarrel arose between Dodd and Sellers.

His mother lives here. Dodd's friends are anxiously awaiting the outcome of the trial.

Didn't Like School, City Takes 'em in

Three boys—Lawrence Buschnelk, 15; Murtz Doran, 14; Charley Aughan, 13—all students in the Sacred Heart Academy, located in Pottawatomie county, south of Maud, were taken into custody by city police here last night.

The boys were picked up for loitering and when quizzed by the police admitted they had run away from the school. It is a Catholic institution. The lads declared they did not want to stay there.

Authorities of the Catholic school were notified and a representative arrived today to return with the lads. The boys expressed their determination to escape again if the chance was offered.

"We don't like the school," Lawrence told Mayor Fisher. "They make us eat food that is spoiled and we have to work pretty hard. I am not going to attend the school and will run away again as soon as I get the chance. But I won't come through your town. I'll go another way where you can't get me."

REPORT OF MERGER FOR PACKERS OUT

No Comment Made After Conference of Armour and Wallace.

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—J. O. Oden Armour, head of the Chicago packing house of Armour and company, conferred today with officials of the federal government here regarding the situation in the industry. It was indicated that some announcement of a re-alignment of the packing interests could be expected shortly.

Mr. Armour visited Secretary Wallace of the department of agriculture but would not discuss the conference afterwards or comment on reports that a merger was contemplated between Armour and company and Wilson and company, or Armour and Morris and company.

At the same time it was said both at the department of justice and federal trade commission, the two federal agencies which would be interested in any plans for a merger that so far as known no representative of the packing industry had laid any merger proposals before the government.

PRESIDENT GOES TO WRECK SCENE

Chilean Official Makes His First Visit Over Territory.

(By the Associated Press)

SANTIAGO, Nov. 15.—As President Alessandri left today to visit the zone devastated by the earthquake and tidal wave, lists of those killed in the catastrophe came in over the restored telegraph lines from many points giving more definite facts concerning the disaster. While official figures on the deaths recorded up to the time the president took his departure stood slightly under 900, some estimated still placed the list as high as 1,100.

Today's messages brought fresh stories of suffering among thousands of homeless and furnished details of terrible violence of earthquakes and tidal waves which laid low a score or more towns and villages. The scenes of this distress, President Alessandri intends to visit in person with his official staff in order to determine the best measure of relief and give his personal encouragement to the workers.

COTTON GROWERS HOLD MEET HERE TO START PLANS

Field Worker Explains the Features of Plan of Marketing.

MANY ATTEND MEET

Final Plans to Be Talked at General Meeting of Joint Interests.

Although no definite action was taken by Pontotoc county cotton growers and business men at their joint meeting Tuesday evening in the chamber of commerce rooms, plans for perfecting the workings of the association were scheduled to be disposed of at a future meeting.

A meeting will probably be worked out following the next session of the Ada Lions Club, which meets next Tuesday, it was intimated at the close of Tuesday night's meeting.

H. S. Moore, state field worker, attended the meeting and gave a short business analysis of the workings of the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' association with references to its stabilization of the country's cotton market.

Moore pointed out in the course of his analysis the defects of competitive cotton marketing both in interest for the farmer and the banker. He flatly declared that the law of supply and demand had little to do with the prices of cotton under the competitive system, where it would practically control the pooling system of the growers' association.

Moore pointed out that co-operative pooling of cotton by growers would make possible classification and sale of the product on a large scale and hence eventually regulate the price of the commodity.

"Spinners, favor the association because they are assured that they will get a better class of product, owing to the fact that cotton is sent direct to the association warehouses and is not subject to waste through continued cutting of scalpers," Moore declared.

Moore quoted statistics to show that cotton sold by the association this year brought a better average than when sold on the streets.

Lendency to members in cases where notes held by banks were pressing, was another point brought out in the discussion.

In closing his analysis, Moore declared that the association had already succeeded fundamentally and that only time would work out the flaws in the organization.

I. S. Vaughn, district director, of Holdenville, also attended the meeting and made a few statements with reference to the working of the association.

Several business men of Ada were present at the meeting.

Greeks Asking Help of Every Nation to Relieve Suffering

(By the Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 15.—The Greek government is asking the "utmost help" from every nation in its efforts to care for the hundreds of thousands of refugees which continue to pour out of Asia-Minor as a result of the Turkish military successes, according to a cablegram to the American Red Cross from Dr. A. Ross Hill, director of its near east relief department. The cablegram tells of conditions in refugee camps, declaring that the saving of millions of Christians "driven into the sea by Turks, hangs largely on the quick charity of America," for many peoples are unable to help.

New German Cabinet Falls Under Strain

(By the Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 15.—The German cabinet, headed by Chancellor Wirth, has fallen. The resignations were filed last night.

This action caused little surprise for the German people were much dissatisfied with the failure of Wirth to reach an agreement with the allied commissioners concerning the reparations payments on their recent visit to Berlin. Ever since the assassination of Dr. Rathenau, the chancellor has been regarded as a man apparently without a fixed policy, vacillating and without initiative. Rathenau is regarded as the force which urged him on and with his passing Wirth's power waned.

BRITISH START ELECTION FIRES

Law Deserts Policy and Declares His Victory is Certain.

(By the Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 15.—The electorate of Great Britain swarmed to the polls today by the million to elect the fourth parliament of the reign of King George V. The polls opened at 8 o'clock, and an hour earlier than that in some places, and by 9 o'clock this evening the new house of commons will have been elected.

No eleventh hour developments occurred and those who venture predictions at all offer them with strings tied to them. It was, therefore, something of a surprise to the public that Prime Minister Bonar Law in his closing speech declared his native caution and declared that he would win by a considerable majority and would be satisfied with nothing less than a clear cut Unionist majority in the house.

Bad weather caused anxiety to party agents. In some country districts the fog which has hung over England for several days had given way to rain.

FOOTBALL PLAYER SUFFERS INJURY

Charley Gregg, right end of the Ada high school football team, suffered a broken right leg Tuesday afternoon. He was rushed to the local hospital where he is receiving treatment for the injury.

Both the ankle and knee, were broken. Gregg charged in from the end to break up an off-tackle play. Neither coach could explain how the accident occurred, merely saying that his leg was broken by the impact.

He will not be able to play football before next season, if at that time, doctors said.

He spent a restless night but was reported to be doing better today. Doctors held out hope for a speedy recovery. It was expected that he would be able to go home about Sunday, if not before. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Gregg of 701 South Stockton Avenue.

BAPTISTS URGED TO CONVEY HERE FOR NEXT PARLEY

Business men United in an Appeal to Bring Big Convention Here.

TELEGRAMS SENT

Dispatches Sent Laymen Urging Ada be Used for Next Meet.

Ada is determined in her efforts to establish herself as the "convention city" of Oklahoma.

Her latest conquest will be her contention for the annual Baptist general assembly of the state in 1923, now in session at Altus.

Merchants of Ada are showing their interest in the proposition by sending personal telegrams to those in charge of the convention pleading for the holding of the convention here in 1923.

This action, fostered by the Chamber of Commerce, will intimate to these in charge of the convention, the sincerity of the citizenship of Ada in appealing for the convention, it is believed.

Over 50 telegrams were sent out from the various business houses of the city during the day, each making a strong appeal for the convention here.

Telegrams were sent out at regular intervals during the day so that they would be received continuously during the day's session.

Ada's proposed $110,000 Convention Hall, which will be completed in the spring of 1923, will be one of the features to appeal to state Baptists in holding their convention here.

A telegram was dispatched by Mayor W. H. Fisher to the convention, in session at Altus today, inviting the Baptists of the state of Oklahoma to select Ada as their convention city for 1923.

The telegram was signed by Mayor W. H. Fisher and approved by the other commissioners. It expressed the desire of the citizenship as well as the city administration, to have the Baptist select Ada as the 1923 convention city and pledged the hearty reception for the delegates.

Rev. C. C. Morris, pastor of the First Baptist church here, and other delegates are in Altus today to attend the sessions of the convention and to try to bring the convention for Ada next year. A united effort, backed by the civic clubs of the city is being made to induce the convention to select Ada, reports from the Ada delegates today said.

THE DOCTOR.

Doctors are about the only class we know of who are all the time trying to work themselves out of a job. They give freely to the public information on the best means of avoiding sickness and their researches are directed towards learning better ways and means of promoting the health of their patients. The result is that during the past half century the average length of life has been extended ten years and the end has not yet been reached. Doctors may sometimes display ill feeling against some competitor, just as any other class would, but when one makes a discovery he gives it freely to friend and foe alike. Furthermore, doctors are about as charitable a lot as one can find. The average doctor does hundreds of dollars of charity practice every year, to say nothing of bad bills which could be paid. A doctor may know full well that he will get nothing from a call, but still he goes if he knows that a human life is at stake. Above all things the average doctor is a very discreet person. He may know dark secrets in the lives of his patients that would cause them to be driven from the community should the public learn what the doctor knows. Or it may be that a word from him concerning a patient would cause the deepest humiliation and blast his happiness forever, even though it might be no fault of the patient. Of course there are quacks and humbugs in the profession, just as there is counterfeit money, but this is no reason why the profession should be discredited.

A BOY WHO WILL GET ON

A freshman in the University of Michigan has asked permission to drop the required gymnasium training because he works eleven hours every night in a factory to put himself through his college course, according to a statement in the New York Herald. He goes to the factory at 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon and quits at 4:30 in the morning. In the remaining thirteen hours of the day he must find time to sleep, sit through four hours of classroom instruction and prepare himself in his courses.

Compared with this youngster of 18 the average tired business man is a lotus eater. If this boy doesn't crack under the strain he will come out of college with his will steeled to the undertaking of hard jobs. He can never be afraid of work because he will never have to work harder.—Ex.

BUSINESS IS IMPROVING

A dispatch from New York reviewing business conditions says:

"Business recovery throughout the country still continues. Just now it is manifesting itself in unusual activity in the retail trade. The mail order houses, the 5 and 10-cent stores and chain stores generally are experiencing an activity closely approximating that of two years ago.

"Textile mills are sold up for three months ahead and wholesale houses are finding themselves called upon to provide for an enormous retail trade. All this is an outcome of the virtual disappearance of unemployment, but more particularly of buying by the agricultural community, which is once more in funds."

The out look for a fine Winter is certain. It is time to drive ahead.—Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

There is no way of doing effective charity work except through organization. Every town of any size now practices this and when distress calls come they are investigated and need relief afforded. Without an organization imposters would find things much easier. Their appeals for sympathy would bring in many a dollar to enable them to live in ease and escape honest labor. Even with an organization to investigate they sometimes get aid that is not deserved. In regard to the good work the Ada Chapter of the Red Cross has done among the sick and unfortunate, too much cannot be said. It is a necessity in the life of the city.

Senator Borah threatens to kill the ship subsidy bill by means of a filibuster, should it be considered by the senate. He declares that this is the second attempt of the Republican party to commit suicide and he does not approve of the idea. Whether one approves of Borah or not no one can say that there are any strings on him. Hence one cause of worry to the old guard in controlling the next congress. The majority is so small that when one or two leave the reservation it makes things very uncertain.

A bull dog does not make as much noise as a bench legged fice, but he commands much more respect. A good lesson for a few people in every community to learn.

THE BOOTLEGGERS REVENGE!

The Forum of the Press

Mr. Metal Mike
(Wichita Falls Times)
An uncanny new invention known as "Metal Mike", is perfected by Elmer A. Sperry, the marine inventor.

Metal Mike is an automatic ship steering device. It looks a lot like a street car motorman's control box. Hook it to a ship's wheel and it steers six times more accurately than the best human wheelman.

The Moffett, largest tanker of the Standard Oil fleet, recently made a 4,900 mile-trip in which it was steered almost continuously by Metal Mike.

If the ocean waves twist the ship off her course, Metal Mike instantly detects the deviation from the route mapped out inside him before leaving port. Automatically Mike whirls the steering wheel and corrects the ship's course.

When you have a device like Metal Mike, by which a ship can practically steer itself from San Francisco to Hong Kong, you have about the nearest human piece of machinery ever made.

It's enough to have made a skilled navigator like Columbus drop dead from fright.

It makes you wonder, is there any work we do that eventually will not be duplicated by machinery?

Metal Mike, of course, lacks judgment, the most important quality of a human pilot. That is, Mike can steer a ship to destination—unless another ship gets in the way.

Still, it would not be impossible to improve Mike's cog wheel brain so that, hearing another ship, he automatically would steer away from it.

This would be just the reverse of the selenium torpedo, which automatically pursues its prey, no matter how many twists and turns are taken in the attempt to escape.

We recall an "automatic man" that years ago toured the country in cheap vaudeville houses. It walked, it bowed, it did many stunts. Its operator opened its coat displaying a maze of machinery visible inside through a glass.

All went well until a woman, crafty in her knowledge of masculinity, shoved a batpin into the automatic man's leg. His career ended with a howl.

But, at that, we wouldn't be surprised to wake up one of these marvelous days and find a genuine automatic man strutting the streets, and possibly running for political office.

New Party Talk

(Ft. Worth Star-Telegram)
From Washington comes the news that "new party" talk is to be heard on all sides, as a result of the recent elections. One correspondent analyzes it, and finds five outstanding ideas with respect to new party alignments. He enumerates them as follows:

1. Republican chieftains of the conservative wing of the party—like Frank Munsey and Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler—have suggested a realignment within the old parties to effect a new conservative party designed to oppose the growth of a "radical party."
2. Senator Borah a leader among Republican independents, has warned that a new third party is inevitable, unless the present administration takes on more liberal clothes. Thus far Borah has not discussed what is likely to be precise elements figuring in the makeup of this new party.
3. Out of the Middle West, including Central, Mountain and Northwestern states, has come a pronounced movement for the union of farmers and labor—a development of the Nonpartisan League idea—for a party of its own in 1924 unless desired benefits for these elements can be acquired in greater degree from the existing government. This movement would seem to revolve in some measure about a leadership such as that of Henry Ford or Senator La Follette.

4. Wet interests, pertaining to be slated at the results of Tuesday's elections, have announced that unless there is a movement within the existing major parties looking forward to modification of the Volstead law within the next two years, a beer and wine party will be added to the prospective new organizations, with a full ticket of pledged wet candidates.

5. At a meeting of the War Industries Association—here men affiliated with Bernard M. Baruch as chairman of the War Industries Board during the war—it was proposed that there be a new alignment of farmers and manufacturers of the Nation, to constitute a new business party.

Only the first of these, it seems to us, is based upon a real national cleavage. The second is but another form of the first. The others represent elements that either could not form a formidable national party or do not supply sufficient basis for a "party."

While there is a real cleavage of conservatives and radicals in the country, both parties, containing such factions, it is only in the Republican party that any formidable conflict may be expected during the next two years. Senator Borah's threat may presage interesting developments. And there may be a wet and dry fight within the Democratic party. Aside from this, however, the "new party" talk is mostly just talk.

Greek Government Goes in to Assist Relief Movements

ATHENS, Nov. 15.—Every available facility of the Greek government has been placed at the disposal of the Near East Relief to assist in the establishment of adequate relief measures, according to word just received at the national headquarters.

Flour supplies at Athens and certain other portions of Greece are practically exhausted, threatening a bread famine for the permanent population as well as the refugees. The American steamship, Orient recently landed at Constantinople without discharging the 2,000 tons of flour in its holds. Efforts are being made to reship half of this to Salonica and half to Piraeus. Other shipments must arrive soon to prevent the bread famine.

MEETING OF THE PONTOTOC COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY

The Pontotoc County Medical Society held its regular monthly meeting at the hospital Thursday afternoon and evening, with most of the membership present. It had been arranged for the Garvin and Murray county physicians to be present, but owing to the condition of the roads following the rain it was not possible for them to attend.

At the afternoon session Dr. Stout of Oklahoma City read a highly instructive paper on appendicitis in children. The feature of the evening session was a lecture by Dr. Ralph V. Smith of Tulsa on the subject of fractures.

By way of enjoying the social side of life a dinner was spread at 6:30, and a dancing and reading program rendered by members of the girls physical culture class at East Central College under the direction of Miss Anna Weaver Jones.

The society is a very lively organization and embraces practically all the physicians of the county. For the past five years Dr. L. M. Overton of Roff has been president and during this time some excellent work has been done. Dr. Catherine Brydia is the secretary. At each meeting papers are read or lectures delivered by competent members of the profession and the spirit of fraternity reigns supreme. The next meeting will be held the second Tuesday in December.

The following were present at the meeting just held: Drs. Stout of Oklahoma City; Smith, Tulsa; Rose, Allen; Overton, Roff; McKeel, Breco; Faust, Lewis, Jeffers, Webster, McNew, Lane, Boyce, Brydia, Craig and Castleberry, Ada.

GREEK OFFICIAL ARRESTED ON CAMPAIGN ACTIVITY

ATHENS, Nov. 15.—Gen. Paullos, chief of staff of the Greek army in the Angora campaign was arrested today after testifying at the trial of former members of the cabinet and others charged with treason as the result of the debacle of the campaign.

Human bones used to be kept as amulets and charms, and the oldest known fetish is the thigh bone of a mammoth.

A DELIGHTFUL ROW

"My wife had suffered from stomach and liver trouble for many years and had taken medicine enough to sink a ship, so when I brought home a bottle of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, on the advice of my employer, she refused to take it. Her liver trouble hadn't helped her disposition any. We had a big row, but she took it the next week. Her ailments have all disappeared." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Gwin and Mays and druggists everywhere. (Adv.)

Alberta Farmers to Compete in Honors in Grain Exhibits

(By the Associated Press)
EDMONTON, Nov. 15.—Alberta farmers will compete for prizes at the International Grain and Hay Show which will be held at Chicago during the week beginning December 2.

Canadian exhibits will compete with the best of the United States produces. The Alberta government some time ago appointed Prof. G. H. Cutler of the University of Alberta, G. M. Stewart, Dominion seed commissioner and Don Bark to effect the best exhibits of grain that Alberta farms have to offer.

For three years straight John V. Lucas of Cayley, Alta., has won the oats championship of North America. He won his first championship at the International Soil Products Exposition at Kansas City in 1919 and repeated in 1920 and 1921 at the International Grain and Hay Show at Chicago.

ANNUAL BREAKFAST GIVEN BY HIGH SCHOOL CLASS

The annual breakfast given by the domestic science class of the Ada High school, was prepared this morning. Plates were set for six and the breakfast, served in three courses, was a success. Mrs. Mabel Brown, secretary of the school board, was high in her praise of the work being done by the girls in the class and in the manner in which they served the breakfast.

Other guests were Prof. A. L. Fentem, principal of the school last year, and Prof. W. A. Hill, principal of the school this year.

Mrs. Charley Bobbitt, instructor in domestic science for the school, was highly complimented by the guests on the work she is accomplishing with the class.

The table was decorated in keeping with the Thanksgiving Season and was a formal affair. Members of the class prepared the three courses and served it. Mrs. Bobbitt was assisted as hostess by Misses Hazel Bennett and Jessie Bell Ellis.

The affair was held in the high school dining room. Mrs. Bobbitt explained that the breakfast is served annually in order to give the students an opportunity to participate in formal social functions and to assist them in their studies.

World and the Woman

By JUSTIN WENTWOOD

(© 1922, Western Newspaper Union.)

Hale stood upon the highest point of his property, surveying life.

The highest point was just six feet above the level of the sea. The lowest point was about six feet below. But the palm trees were so scattered and the mangrove so dwarfed that Hale could see clear to the encircling waters.

Over them a boat was coming. Hale swore.

He did not want company. He would warn off the intruders. He hurried down to his strip of silver beach and assumed an angry look.

In reality Hale could not look very angry. It is impossible to look angry at twenty-nine, when you are the owner of an island kingdom.

As the boat drew near Hale saw that it was pulled by a single occupant, a girl, with copper-colored hair and white arms. She did not see Hale until the boat grounded. Then she sprang ashore and gasped:

"Goodness, I didn't know anybody lived on Shell Key!"

"I am the owner of Shell Key," said Hale grimly.

"I'm sorry I trespassed. You see, I—I wanted a place to be alone."

Hale softened. "Won't you come up to my cabin and have a cup of tea?" he asked. "That is, if you don't mind condensed milk."

She laughed. She had pretty gray eyes and a delightful smile, though she looked a little sad, Hale thought. She sat down on the camp stool, and soon the tea was ready.

"You see," she explained, "I was a school-teacher, but my throat got bad, and the doctors were afraid of tuberculosis. So they sent me down to Florida. And it isn't tuberculosis at all, and I'm getting better, but you see there's the cough, and the boarding-houses are afraid of coughs down here, so—so none of them would take me. It's so hard to stop coughing."

She coughed apologetically.

"So I had to come down to Palm Point and live in a cabin there, and—it's crowded all the time with tourists, and I just wanted to be alone. So I came over to Shell Key to look at it, meaning to camp out here for a week if—well, if there was no one here."

"And then go back to teaching?"

"And then go back to teaching," she answered sadly.

"I'm much like you," said Hale. "I was threatened with the same trouble, only I had just a hundred dollars left when my fare was paid. So I bought Shell Key—an acre and a half—for twenty dollars down, purchased fifty dollars' worth of food and implements and started—but come, and I'll show you."

He led her to the highest peak of his domains. Through the palm trees the girl saw a clearing of a quarter of an acre, in which corn, tomatoes, and other esculents were flourishing.

"I'm going to get a nanny when I sell my corn," said Hale.

"And you mean to live here always?"

"Rather than go back to clerking, yes. I'm going to make Shell Key the most highly intensified example of truck farming in the world. And I'm going to raid an orange plantation five miles down the coast on the next dark night, and bring back sucklings. They grow the best navel in the world there."

Slowly they went back. "You seem to have made a little island paradise here," said the girl.

"A kingdom—a world," he answered. "I wouldn't go back to the world outside for anything."

"And I," she said, "must go to take up my work in the world again. Each of us to his fate."

"Yes," he answered.

"Perhaps I'll row across to Palm Point some afternoon and call on you."

"I've only got one more week," she said. "And I'd rather you wouldn't."

"Why not?"

"It's—too sad, isn't it. I mean—he saw that her eyes were full of tears—"giving up one's dreams."

"We all have to give up our dreams, I suppose," he said.

"But you have your dream."

"Not all of it."

They were upon the beach now. She turned and looked at him. "What dream have you had to abandon?" she asked.

"Oh, every man's dream, I suppose," he answered.

"The dream of finding some one to share my kingdom with me. I've often thought of her. She has gray eyes and copper hair."

"And you've abandoned that dream?"

"I've never found her." His look was unmistakable. And she could amuse herself no longer with him.

"I ought to have told you," she said penitently. "My husband's at Palm Point. He's an invalid, and—and we don't care for each other at all, but that—binds us, you know."

From the summit of his island kingdom Hale watched the boat receding.

Multiplication.

Josiah White died in 1806 at Rockingham, Vt. At death he had 388 direct descendants. A check-up shows that at least 3,000 direct descendants of Josiah have entered the world up to the present time. This shows the wisdom of death in nature's scheme of things. Without death earth would become so thickly populated that its whole surface would be a closely packed crowd of standing-up humans. We have to die to make room for new-comers.

Lyddite, the high explosive, is so called after the English town of Lydd, in Kent, the place of its first manufacture.

OBITUARY

Juaneta Mae McCoy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. McCoy of 1016 East Tenth street, died at the family home shortly after 9 o'clock last night. She was four years of age. Death came after a very short illness. Mr. McCoy, who was working in Dallas, arrived in the city today to attend the funeral which was held this afternoon at the residence. Rev. E. O. Whitwell had charge. Burial took place in Rosedale cemetery.

DO YOU WONDER?

Asks This Lady, "That I'm a Believer in Cardui?"—Had Been So Weak She Had to Go to Bed.

Oswatimie, Kans.—Mrs. E. E. Keast, formerly of Illinois, residing here, says: "We moved to this state eleven years ago, and I had good health for a long while; and then some year or so ago I had a bad sick spell. . . .

"I got so weak I couldn't go. I couldn't stand on my feet at all. I had to go to bed. I suffered a great deal. I was so nervous I felt I couldn't live. I tried medicines, and everything; had the best of attention, yet I wasn't able to get up. I lay for three months, not able to do anything.

"My husband is a bill poster and has circulars distributed. One day there came to be a Ladies Birthday Almanac among his circulars. I read it, and told some of the family to get me a bottle of Cardui. . . .

"I quit all other medicines and took it (Cardui) faithfully, and two weeks from the time I began to take Cardui I was out of bed—better than for months.

"I kept it up and continued to improve until I was a well woman.

"Do you wonder that I am a believer in Cardui? I certainly am. And I am sure there is no better tonic made for women than Cardui."

VINITA LAST TO BAN OLD CUSTOM

Old Fire Horses Are Replaced by Modern Equipment.

(By the Associated Press)

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 15.—Vinita, Oklahoma, has this week seen the passing of the last old-fashioned team of fire horses in the state. "Rock" and "Rye" have been turned out to grass, and a shiny new motor truck has replaced them.

This is the word reaching the office of the state fire marshal, according to John T. Hammill, assistant marshal.

Not a decade ago each city and town had its favorite fire horses.

The first motorized piece of fire apparatus came to the state in 1910.

Four years ago the capitol city had four fire teams.

For many years Purcell had the fastest fire team in the state, as proven at the tournaments held annually.

One year the Purcell team is said to have broken the world's record for a speedy run.

Purcell bought a fire truck last year, and of the boasts of the town passed.

Four years ago Oklahoma City had the five motor trucks and four teams, manned by 85 men.

Now the city has 20 pieces of motorized apparatus, and employs 138 firemen.

Four years ago Norman had one of the few motor fire trucks in the state.

Tulsa had three or four, according to Hammill. He recalls that there were less than a dozen trucks in use in the state—only four years ago.

The first truck was put into service in the state at Muskogee twelve years ago. Now there are approximately 162 trucks in use, Hammill counts. They are used in 89 cities and towns. There are 119 fire departments in the state.

The last of the fire teams is a matched pair of black horses, with white forefeet and white stars in their foreheads. According to Fire Chief C. H. Webb of Vinita the two horses were the pets of the two paid firemen the city employed and the ten volunteer members of the department.

In the last four years there has been a great development in the fire departments of the state, according to Hammill. The two-platoon system, ordered in all cities of more than 10,000 inhabitants by the seventh legislature nearly doubled the number of firemen, and there are now 6,000 in the state, he said.

Under the old system firemen were on duty twenty-four hours each day. Now one group is on duty ten hours and another fourteen hours.

Formerly the firemen's pension fund received only one percent of all premiums on fire insurance written in the state. The seventh legislature doubled the amount to two percent.

The pension fund is collected by the state insurance commissioner and appropriated to cities which have firemen's associations to pay pensions to disabled firemen or members of a department retired after twenty years of service. There are about twenty-five firemen pensioners in the state now, according to Hammill, who draw an average of about $100 a month.

COLLEGE NOTES

Dr. F. A. Hatch, speaking under the auspices of the Scottish Rite Masons, addressed the students of the college in assembly this morning. Following a piano selection by Miss Ruth Burton, Mr. Hatch spoke primarily to the teachers and those who intend to teach. He stressed the responsibility of the teacher in guiding the development of the adolescent child, impressing on the students the necessity of the teacher having the right kind of personality. Mr. Hatch stated that ideals, not facts were the things which the teacher must give the child.

Rev. Franklin J. Clark, secretary to the national council of the Episcopal church, will speak to the students of the college tomorrow morning at nine o'clock.

Mr. Fentem and Miss Jones of the college faculty will go to Tecumseh Friday. Mr. Fentem will speak at a series of community meetings. Miss Jones will demonstrate plays and games for public school purposes.

That the college is serving its purpose as a trainer of teachers is demonstrated by reports given out by President Linscheid this morning. These reports show that of twenty-nine who received degrees from the local institution, twenty-five are teaching now, two are at Oklahoma University working on masters degrees, and one is at Stillwater as a student assistant teacher while working on a master of science degree. Of 129 who received life certificates last summer, 126 are teaching now.

ATTEMPT TO CARRY OFF BANK SAFE IS FUTILE

BARTLESVILLE, Nov. 15.—Several men evidently amateurs, made an unsuccessful attempt at 3 o'clock this morning to carry off the 3,000 pound safe of the Copan State Bank containing $1,500 in cash, according to a telephone message to an afternoon paper here this morning. Entrance to the bank was made by forcing the back door.

MARSHALL WOULD LET CONSCIENCE

ing than has heretofore existed between the operator and the miner. This is a great economic question, but is more than that—it is a great patriotic question. Of course the inquiry will be valueless unless out of it the real facts can be found and justice may be done, peaceably if it can; forcibly if it must. But what an impulse to the lifting higher of the standard of the republic it will be if out of it, each of these contending forces shall ultimately discover that there is a patriotic side to every business conducted in America, and that they rise to the highest types of American citizens who so adjust their business grievances in accordance with the principle of organized self control as to render unnecessary any governmental interference whatever.

Public Side of Question.

"There is a public side to this question. In all our calmer moments when not actuated by greed or hatred, no laborer of the republic dare to consider his business as exclusively private in its relations to the welfare of the nation. Democracy spells not alone private ownership—it spells also public welfare and the action of the public in all of its business transactions will have much to do with the ability of the commission to promote a friendlier feeling between the operator and the miner. One of the weaknesses of the large publicity given to American affairs is the proneness of business men of America to form his conclusion either from newspaper rumor or from an isolated fact. The commission hopes and believes that the sober second judgment of the American people is yet sound and that it will always be cast in favor of equity and fair dealing. It hopes, therefore that judgment may be suspended on isolated facts and rumors and that the ultimate opinion of the people may be made up from all facts that may be ascertained, but in the meanwhile it hopes that the coal industry may not be singled out, although it is the most important one in the land as the only that the people believe should come to amicable relations through the doctrine of organized self control. It will help much if all other business in life that is not being investigated will investigate itself, and begin to apply the principles of democracy to the conduct of trade and business. Perhaps if we preach the golden rule long enough, here and there a man may be found who will catch the vision of it as the perfect democracy and will begin to live it.

"QUEEN OF SHEBA" PROVES DRAMATIC AND SPECTACULAR

"Queen of Sheba" the William Fox super-special which is at the American theatre tonight for its last run, is spectacularly magnificent and dramatically superb. It leaves one gasping with amazement and admiration. The marriage of the Queen of Sheba to King Aram, her arrival at the court of King Solomon, the day of racing and games, the thrilling chariot race between Sheba and Princess Vashti, the arrival of David, the little Prince of Sheba; the battle between the forces of King Solomon and those of Adonijah, his recreant brother; the farewell of the Queen of Sheba to King Solomon—all are scenes never to be forgotten.

Betty Blythe is altogether charming in the exacting role of the Queen, Fritz Lieber is impressive as King Solomon, and all other members of the notable cast give excellent accounts of themselves. Great credit is due William Fox for having strive to evolve not alone a temporary, but a permanent peace founded upon justice and equality. It will be patient and long-suffering; it will not be suspicious, but upon the other hand, it has enough skilled men in its membership and in its personnel to know what the truth is and it will not hesitate to put in the pillory any man who purposely attempts to deceive it. It has friendship and good will justice and truth, for its guiding principles, but it will no more hesitate to condemn falsehood than it will be glad to recognize the truth, and if the American people will aid its labors along this line, they will be of vast assistance in reaching a possible solution of the question; more than that, they will unconsciously find that there are many things in their own business that need readjustment along the ideals of the republic."

Faithful Tabby Returns to Home of C. A. Galbraith

OKLAHOMA CITY, Nov. 15.—Judge C. A. Galbraith, assistant attorney general, thinks that the biblical philosopher must have unintentionally overlooked the domestic house cat when enumerating things that passed his understanding.

The reporter of those ancient days quoted the patriarch as saying that he was unable to understand the ways of a bird in the air, a ship at sea and a man with a maid. Judge Galbraith says that his observation has been that the ways of the house cat are just as puzzling as the ways of a ship at sea and a bird in the air.

When Judge Galbraith moved to Oklahoma City from Ada, he brought along a black cat that was included in his household inventory. The Galbraiths moved into the house at 310 West Fourteenth street, and tabby was turned loose. That was more than four months ago. The cat, evidently did not like its new surroundings, as it disappeared the first night, and was mourned as lost. The Galbraiths moved to Twenty-third street and Lincoln boulevard, and left no information available for the cat, if it should return. Imagine the surprise experienced by the Galbraith family when the cat showed up at the new address a few days ago.

"How did the cat find your new location?" Judge Galbraith was asked. "Must have gotten the address from the postman," Judge Galbraith replied.
